Big Audience Sees Hilltop Dedicated

Exercises Held On Sunday Afternoon Attended by 600 Persons Who Hear Addresses.

Hilltop Sanitorium was formally dedicated on Sunday afternoon before an audience of fully 600 people who gathered on the cleared ground before the porch from which the addresses were delivered. In addition to three short addresses there was special music. The exercises began shortly after 4 o'clock when Frank Talbott delivered a eulogy to the late R. L. Dibrell in whose memory a bronze tablet has been placed in the lobby. Mr. Dibrell is denoted on the tablet as a "friend of Hilltop" and Mr. Talbott in his five-minute talk paid a warm tribute to the former well known citizen and depicted his abiding interest in the success of the institution.

Rev. Henry Wade DuBose spoke for 20 minutes delivering the dedicatory address, drawing a clever analogy between Hilltop and the high places in the history of mankind. He emphasized particularly three points, one of these being the thought that Hilltop is a life-saving station of inestimable benefit to the community and a place where persons under the peril of the disease may live it down and gain a new lease on life. The sanitorium, he declared, was more than that, a place of defense, a fortress and a protective agency in that through segregation the dangers of the spread of infection are minimized. His third point, all of which were enlarged upon, was that Hilltop is an educational institution in that training is given to the patients how to live in such a way as to regain health. His closing passage was a message of good cheer. He said that he did not know how many of the afflicted he was addressing but he pointed out the necessity of a courageous attitude so necessary in waging a winning fight against tuberculosis and radiated an atmosphere of optimism.

Dr. Ennion Williams, state health commissioner from Richmond was also present yesterday and in a brief talk following Dr DuBose he felicitated Danville on its work in building Hilltop and providing a modernly appointed plant for those suffering from the disease. Fifty years ago he said there was not a sanitorium in America for the treatment of tuberculosis. Today, he added the school children know more about causes and prevention of tuberculosis than the doctors did 50 years ago. Emphasizing the benefits derived from the segregation and proper treatment of patients through sanatoria for tuberculosis patients Dr. Williams said that during the past five year period in Virginia the death rate from the disease has been reduced from four to three thousand. In the past decade throughout the United States there has been a reduction of 15 per cent in the death rate, this being largely due to the increasing attention paid to treatment of persons afflicted.

Rev. Malcolm S Taylor closed the services with prayer, the addresses being interposed with two selections by a double quartet led by A A Hall, the Misses Conway also giving a violin and piano duet.

Dr C. E. Harper, president of the Danville Anti-Tuberculosis association, who had charge of Sunday's meeting, reported to those assembled that the Danville Garden club has offered to improve the grounds and to lay them out on the plans drawn up by a landscape artist. This work probably will not be done however until a drive has been built from the high road to the doors of the institution. It is hoped to have the work done this summer. People who attended the services yesterday were grieved to hear that Miss Bessie Davenport, the superintendent of the institution is ill again and she plans going to Catawba in the near future for a course of treatment. The association has not yet decided on her temporary successor.

Navy balloon, inflated with helium, non-inflammable gas, was tried out in the Milwaukee balloon race. It made a faster start than the others in the race.

4 Nurses Suspended After Death of Baby Scalded in Bathtub

NEW YORK, June 4.—Four Newark City Hospital nurses were suspended yesterday by Mayor Breidenbach following the death by scalding on Monday of two-year-old Sherbourne Laird of No 15 Eighth avenue. Miss Sara Van Steenburg, in charge of the children's ward, and Miss Kathryn Shampanore, a student nurse, were suspended for carelessness. Two practical nurses Miss Annie Cavaghan and Miss Jennie Alliston, were suspended for withholding information concerning the scalding.

Mayor Breidenbach has not ended his investigation. Witnesses were examined by him yesterday.

It was testified that Miss Van Steenburg was making a bed when an orderly brought the Laird child to the ward, early last week. The orderly left the child in the ward bathroom, where Miss Shampanore found him crying. To appease the baby she placed him in a bathtub.

Later Miss Van Steenburg found the baby in five inches of hot water. The water had been turned on by Lillian Hoolke, five years old, who was the only one in the bathroom when Miss Shampanore left the Laird child there. The child was taken to the Presbyterian hospital where he died Monday.

Bridegroom's Plans Sadly Shattered

The well known slip which occasionally comes between the cup and the lip was in evidence here last night when a young man who had arrived during the day from Washington to claim a young girl of Detroit, now living here, as his bride, failed in his quest and returned home last night disillusioned and disappointed. All arrangements had been made, the minister being engaged and the wedding license procured, following a personal visit to the clerk's home. It is further said that the bridegroom, from Massachusetts, in quest of his wife, had feathered the nest in Washington where they were to live. Just what happened is not recorded, but there appears to have been a change of mind on the part of one of the principals in the anticipated marriage, and it never took place.

The wedding license, it is understood, is to be returned to the clerk of the court during the course of today, without the usual endorsements, the young man returning to Washington last night.

Sinn Feiners Driven Back

Victoria Man Held As a Moonshiner

When J. D. Spencer, of near Victoria, bout 88 miles from here was captured Sunday morning by Federal and State prohibition officers, they regarded it as a big catch, for Spencer, it is eclared, has defied them for some time in his shrewdness. Although believnig without a doubt that he was making whiskey on a big scale, officers have failed time and time again in their efforts to capture him.

With a final determination Federal Agents J L Diting and J N Wood and State Officers Finch and Smith on Sunday morning about 3 o'clock invaded the wooded section of Spencer's plantation, which is but a few mile from Victoria. The officers were determined not to leave without Spencer. They lay in wait from 3 o'clock until 7 o'clock. They had already located the distilling plant and had hidden but a short ways from it. About 7 o'clock a man approached the still with an armful of wood and the officers realized the operations were about to begin. This was not the man sought and the officers waited a short while longer and Spencer appeared. Everything was in readiness but to start the fire going. Spencer placed the wood the officers saw, and set the fire to it and began to stir the mash. As he was in the act the officers appeared suddenly and nabbed him. Having the alleged moonshiner in their toils, the officers captured the still, ten fermenters, destroyed 200 gallons of mash and ten gallons of whiskey. There was every indication that Spencer was making the liquor in large quantities and was disposing of it about as fast as he made it.

Spencer admitted he had been moonshining for some time. He said that he had distilled whiskey for many years for a government distillery prior to prohibition and practically admitted making it since but this was the first time he had ever been caught. It is said his product had been distributed in Patrick county freely.

Invaders Are Routed From Main Positions by British Troops—Border Is Battle-front Now.

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 5.—British troops have driven Sinn Fein invaders from their main positions in Ulster and a large part of the border. Between northern and southern Ireland now is virtually the battle front. Discrepancy between an official communique saying three Sinn Feiners were killed, and one Lewis gun captured and press reports saying British inflicted "heavy losses" are not yet reconciled.

Boiler Blowout Halts Street Cars

Trouble in one of the boilers at the generating plant of the Danville Traction and Power Company on Saturday night caused a suspension of service for about forty-five minutes. It was found necessary to cut off the power while the necessary adjustment was made, the power being turned on just as soon as possible.

The trouble it develops was due to a boiler tube blowing out at about 9 15 at a time when there was a full head of steam to take care of the usual Saturday evening crowds. The break occurred at a point where the cut off valve joining both boilers is situated and until the great gush of live steam had abated it was impossible to approach the point. This naturally lowered the steam pressure. The cut off was affected, however, and the broken tube was cut off. Examination, however, revealed that the heading of the boiler had been cracked and it has been necessary since the blow-out to operate the plant on one boiler. Another part has been ordered by express and will be put in at the earliest possible moment.

Municipal Sheep Enrich Treasury

The municipal sheep flock has been sheared.

Park Keeper E G. McCain reports that the wool market this year is higher than it was last and that the 125 pounds of wool has been clipped from the backs of the city muttons which has been sold for 30 cents a pound or for $37 50. The sheep perform a double duty. They keep the grass at Ballou park neatly trimmed and they bring in a net return to the city treasury in the annual wool clip.

FIRE AT ELEVATOR PLANT.

Patton street firemen were called out Saturday evening to the Westbrook Elevator Company where a small fire was found to be burning near the foundry. The woodwork of a platform from which the foundry furnace is fed had become ignited but the blaze was promptly put out by the use of chemicals.

Harry Wooding, Jr., Will Attend State Bar Meet

Harry Wooding, Jr., leaves tonight for Lynchburg where he will attend the State Bar Association meeting, which will begin tomorrow and last three days. Mr. Wooding is president of the Danville Bar Association. It is Mr. Wooding's intention upon his return to revitalize the Danville Bar Association, to seek to build up an active organization which will hold regular meetings and which will have some central meeting place. For the past several years the local association has existed in name rather than in actuality, he says, and he proposes to bespeak a greater measure of co-operation from the eighteen licensed attorneys in Danville and to revive interest in the organization.

IN THE POLICE COURT

The case of Walter Jennings, colored, charged with his second offense of violating the Mapp act, was this morning heard in the mayor's court and sent to the grand jury. Jennings was arrested several days ago with two half-gallon jars of whisky, one of which he broke. Jennings denied the possession of one of them, claiming that he one he carried had only about half a pint in it; this being the one he broke. The other was full, but the negro said he did not throw it down. The officer found both together and said he saw Jennnings throw them down.

Will Jones, colored, was fined $2.50 and costs for gambling.

Bud Williams was caught early Sunday morning on the River road with three gallons of whisky and was his morning fined $50 and given 30 days in jail. Sergeant Martin and Patrolman W. S. Edwards caught him as he was walking up the road with a gunny sack containing the whisky across his shoulder.

C. H. Payne, colored, who claims to be a colored minister, is being held for the authorities at Orange, Va., where he is wanted on a charge of grand larceny. The nature of the charge is not known. Payne denies that he has done anything wrong, and says it is all a mistake. He was arrested at the depot yesterday while preparing a service. He was leading the singing when officers approached him. The negro, who is on his way from New York to Tallahasse, Florida, where he says his brother is ill, said he had no money and was preaching his way there, using the contributions for railway fare.

Anna Foy, colored, fined $10 and costs for gambling.

W. W. Clark, fined $16 95 for speeding.

Speeding also costs Wayman Wood, colored, $16.95.

Fines of $25 and costs each were imposed on Ernest Cargo and Sheffield Harrison, two negro youths for being implicated in the theft several days ago of an automobile tire. They were caught trying to sell the casing to a garage at the park. Will Douglas was said to be then negro who actually stole the tire, but he made his getaway. Officers are watching out for him.

Willie Williford appealed from a fine of $50 and costs imposed on him for driving an automobile while intoxicated. Williford was arrested after midnight Saturday by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman W. S. Edwards on the River road. Both officers and A. A. Mays testified that the man was too drunk to drive a car. Williford called on Jailor J. P. Brooks as a witness who testified that the man was not drunk when he was put in jail.

As result of an automobile accident which occurred at the corner of Main and Craghead street Sunday, Sam Jones, colored, was this morning fined $10 and costs. Jones' car and a machine of Thomas Jackson were in collision and the court held that Jones was at fault and the fine was imposed. Jones though otherwise [illegible] give bond for 10 days, should he decide to [illegible].

T. L. Doutrat [illegible] $11.50 for passing a street car [illegible] automobile on the [illegible].

H. T. [illegible] fined $11 50 for driving a car without proper lights.

Fulwiler Soon To Vacate Position

Federal Dry Chief Wants to Be Postmaster of Staunton—Slemp Backs Him.

By GEORGE H. MANNING (Washington Correspondent of The Danville Bee.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Robert A. Fulwiler may shortly resign as Federal Prohibition Director for Virginia to take the postmastership at Staunton, his home town.

He has been urged several times to make this change for the benefit of his health by his friends, including State Chairman Joseph L Crupper. He has been given assurance by Congressman Slemp and Chairman Crupper that he can have the Staunton postmastership whenever he wishes it.

On each occasion in the past that the change has been suggested to Mr Fulwiler by his friends, he has asserted his desire to hold on to the prohibition directorship. There have been indications recently, however that he is weakening on his determination not to make the transfer.

Mr Fulwiler's health has not been good for several years and he has been quite ill on several occasions since becoming director. His absence from his home, and being away from his family has tended to make his health still worse. When he first became director, Mr Fulwiler sought permission of the prohibition headquarters officials in Washington to move the Virginia headquarters from Richmond to Staunton so that he could direct the State operations from his home. He insisted that the change would work improvement in administration of the service because Staunton was better located geographically to reach all corners of the State than Richmond. But the Washington officials thought otherwise and refused to permit the removal of the State headquarters from Richmond. Mr. Fulwiler felt rather bitterly over this at the time but determined to hold on even under the unpleasant situation.

Mr Fulwiler may feel more inclined to make the change when he feels that he has performed his duty in a way calculated to hush the voices of his critics at the time he was first mentioned for the place. When Mr Fulwiler's name was first suggested for the Federal prohibition directorship many persons opposed it on the ground that Mr. Fulwiler had been "wet" for many years and predicted he would find it very embarrassing to strictly administer the law.

But Mr. Fulwiler's close friends, including Congressman Slemp, stuck to him, insisting he would give a strict enforcement of the law, and had him appointed. Mr Fulwiler has lived up to all the claims made for him by his friends. He has enforced the prohibition laws vigorously among all classes without fear or favor. His services have been highly pleasing to Commissioner Haynes and other Washington officials.

The salary of the Federal prohibition director is $5,000 annually, compared with that of $3 400 annually of the Staunton postmaster but Mr Fulwiler would in all probability feel much more contented and about as well off financially at the end of the year by receiving the postmaster's salary at Staunton as from getting the director's salary away from home in Richmond.

The four-year term of Postmaster Sam M Donald at Staunton does not expire until August 15, 1923, but he has been serving now about eight years and doubtless could be ousted without difficulty by the republicans if they wanted the place for Mr Fulwiler. Donald was first appointed on July 25, 1914. His eight years will be up next month and the republicans are likely then to take the viewpoint that it is about time for him to be making way for a republican.

With Mr Fulwiler declining suggestions that he make the change no names of his probable successor have been mentioned.

Bank Robber Gives Himself to Police

Grady Ferguson Admits at New Orleans That He Held Up Randleman Institution.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—A man who stated that he was William Ferguson, of Randleman, N. C. walked into police headquarters and told the police that he robbed the Peoples bank of that place of $467 on May 16 last.

Ferguson, the police said told them how he had planned the robbery and held up the cashier of the bank at the point of a pistol in broad daylight and escaped with two packages of money. He said he was the proprietor of a small restaurant at Randleman but was forced to sell his business last December when his wife became ill. He declared he stole the money to pay hospital bills.

"My wife is sick. I want to see her, and am ready to face the music," he said after relating the story to the police.

Ferguson was charged with being a fugitive from justice. Notification of his arrest was sent to the Randleman authorities.

IS "WILLIAM" FERGUSON THE GRADY FERGUSON WANTED?

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 4.—It was Grady Ferguson according to two employes of the Bank of Randleman who entered that institution on the morning of May 24 (not May 16) and covering them with a revolver told them to keep quiet, that he had a sick wife in a hospital in High Point and that he needed the money. Grady Ferguson is alleged to have helped himself to about $500 in currency as a convenience to where he was standing and then backing out of the bank disappeared.

Investigation revealed as a fact that Ferguson's wife was and is a patient in the High Point institution and had been there since January. It was also revealed that her hospital bills had been paid promptly every week and that at the time of the robbery of the bank Ferguson didn't owe the hospital anything or very little.

Last Monday when a lone robber entered the Bank of Summerfield and holding up Cashier Howard Simpson and Bank Director Heskins with a pistol, taking $1,500 from the bank and walking across an open meadow 500 yards wide into the woods in the Summerfield section it was suggested that the [illegible] of the Summerfield robber resembled the tactics of Ferguson at Randleman. A photograph of Ferguson was secured at Randleman by the Guilford authorities and both Simpson and Heskins positively identified the picture as that of the man who had held them up and robbed the bank.

Record Booze Haul On C. B. Smith Farm

Over 100 Gallons and Numerous Containers Discovered on Plantation Near City Limits.

Local police and federal officers have abolished another source believed responsible for the flow of a large quantity of whiskey into Danville by raiding the plantation of C B Smith, about one mile from the city near the old distillery. The raid occurred yesterday afternoon and required several hours. In all 103 1-2 gallons of whiskey was captured and Smith placed under arrest. All sorts of paraphernalia, including 18 cases of empty fruit jars were also captured, showing that Smith was doing an enormous business. It is said that his capture will make a big cut in the supply of liquor coming into Danville.

Smith had been long suspected and officers have been planning his capture for some time. Sergeant J H Martin on yesterday made every preparation to land Smith. After laying out his plans he secured a search warrant and set out for the scene about 3 o'clock with Federal Officers Leroy Chamberlain and A A Mays, and Patrolmen C. W Price, T. E. Bowles and W. S Edwards. When the car containing the officers arrived, Smith was sitting on his front porch with his family. Sergeant Martin announced the purpose of his visit and handed Smith the warrant, which he read and said "all right." The search was then begun. The officers divided up and went in various directions and almost everywhere they went found whisky in various quantities. About [illegible] and a half was found in the [illegible] house. In the smokehouse were found eighteen cases of empty jars and a five gallon copper vessel which is used to measure liquor, this being a rarity among bootleggers as the vessel was identified as those used in licensed distilleries in former times. Copper fermenters and other material were found.

The garage in front of the house was next visited. This contained a number of cars. Under one of the machines seventeen gallons were found. The main feed room of the stable was then given a thorough searching but the liquor was not found until the floor had been ripped up. Here was found seventy-five gallons—fifteen five gallon cans, this bringing the total to 103 1-2 gallons. Every outhouse on the place was searched and the officers were convinced that they had made a good haul and also a big capture.

Smith did not resist or make any objection to the officers in their activities and was unusually polite during his conversations with them. He was placed under arrest and placed under a bond of $500 for his appearance in court next Thursday.

The raid required about three hours, the officers leaving at 3 o'clock and returning something after six.

Smith, the police say, has been long suspected and a great deal of complaint has been reaching here of his activities in his whiskey dealings.

Holley Is Held For Theft Of Car

W. D Henderson was brought to Danville yesterday from Martinsville to be a witness for the state on Wednesday when Gilbert Holley is tried on a charge of car stealing. Holley is held on the charge of stealing a machine belonging to J G Wright of Pelham, N C, which was parked on Market street. Henderson it is said was present when Holley is alleged to have sold the car to a man at Koehler, although the accused man denies stealing the car.

Officers also returned with J H Ross, a negro, who was arrested in Martinsville on Saturday and who, it is charged, was driving an automobile containing 35 gallons of liquor which was seized by officers on Union street a few days ago.

Woman Candidate Loses In Primary

While figures were still unobtainable this morning reports from Yanceyville indicated that Miss Bessie Thompson of Leasburg, a candidate in the primary held Saturday for the North Carolina Senate had been decisively defeated by the male candidate R. T Wilson, of Yanceyville. Miss Thompson received about 100 votes while Mr. Wilson who is a well-known attorney, received over four hundred votes. The district is composed of Durham, Alamance, Orange and Caswell county, each one alternating in the choice of a candidate. It was Caswell's turn this year. Blanch township is said to be the only community which gave Miss Thompson a majority. Leasburg her home town, giving Mr Wilson a majority.

Prospects Bright For Road Project Success

The property owners of Mount Vernon avenue are reported to have made a 100 per cent. record in signing the terms of the agreement with the city whereby the street will be paved this summer. It is also reported that practically everyone on Virginia avenue has also signed and that now nothing stands between the project and its accomplishment. The signed agreements will be placed before the council next Friday when the annual meeting is held. The property owners are agreeing to pay interest on a loan of $20,000 which the council has unofficially agreed to borrow this to defray the costs of the work.

Steamer Held Up By British Sloop

Haymes Liquor Is Stolen From Police

'Pirates Cruise' Ends In Shooting On Boat

NEW YORK, June 4.—Greenwich Villagers deserted the usual haunts of gayety on land Friday night and sought the "freedom of the seas" in an all-night "Pirates' cruise" on the steamer Mandalay. The downpour was ignored by several hundred costumed pirates and piratesses, in addition to a hundred or so who violated the rules by appearing in street clothes.

Fortunately, it was not a cold night. Had the mercury dropped, it is a fair presumption that not a few of the piratesses would have suffered from exposure.

Gunplay lent a tinge of realism on the Mandalay while it cruised up and down the Hudson. When the steamer stopped, just before dawn at West 132d street, John F Sullivan, 22 years old of 37 Catherine street was hurried ashore to the Knickerbocker hospital by two friends. It was found he had a bullet wound in his left instep. Unknown Persons Raid Police Headquarters and Seize 7 1-2 Gallons of Confiscated Booze.

The Schoolfield police department is bending every effort to discover who stole the liquor taken from the home of Buddy Haymes a few days ago and which was removed from a padlocked cupboard in Schoolfield police headquarters sometime Friday night. The theft became known today and was admitted by officers at Schoolfield who were called. Liquor seized by the police is labeled and placed in a wooden safe in the police office at Schoolfield. It is heavily padlocked. On Friday night the Schoolfield police suddenly received a hurry call which took them some distance. In their hurry to depart the door was closed but the snap lock was not set. When they returned an hour and a half later they found the door open, the door on the safe pried open and the 7 1-2 gallons of liquor in numerous fruit jars preserved in the Haymes case gone. The thieves carefully overlooked [illegible] which may lead to the [illegible] of others and took only that being kept in the Haymes case.

It was hinted that the calling out of the Schoolfield officers at that time was part of the ruse to empty the office and to give the marauders time to do their work.

It is a question that the theft will prevent pressing the case against Haymes it is said, it being claimed that the verbal testimony of the liquor being seized will be sufficient in the case. In other quarters it is maintained that if the case is tried in the State courts it will be necessary to produce the goods before a conviction can be hoped for.

SO. CAROLINIANS TO PAY DANVILLE VISIT TUESDAY

On Tuesday night 165 South Carolinians of the Better Acquaintance tour will arrive in Danville on a special train and stop over for supper, at which time they will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce. They will also spend the night here. The itinerary of this crowd of South Carolina business men includes twenty cities in the Carolinas and Virginia. [illegible] will begin at Greenville [illegible] Monday morning and will last until Friday, at which time they are scheduled to return to Greenville.

During the [illegible] in Danville the visitors will be [illegible] to an automobile trip about the city. They will leave for Lynchburg [illegible] Wednesday morning [illegible] of [illegible] at the Burton and Leland Hotels where accommodations have been reserved.

CHORAL SOCIETY MEETING MONDAY

There will be a meeting of the entire [illegible] of the Danville Choral Society, Monday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce.

This is a very important meeting [illegible] whether or not we will continue the Choral Society and [illegible] Festival next year.

A 100 per cent attendance is desired for this meeting and every member is urged to make a special effort to be present.

—Mrs. A. B. Sites of Asheville, N. C., is visiting Mrs. E. K. Jones at her [illegible] street.

Schools Close At Schoolfield

Appropriate exercises on Friday night marked the closing of the Schoolfield public schools. A short program was carried out and the prize awards and announcements were made. The setting for the exercises were peculiarly attractive. At the front of the stage were huge bouquets of daisies with bunches of ferns between, at the rear were small evergreen trees, and in the center of the stage a row of bright and happy boys and girls. There were thirty-one in all and the seventeen girls wore commencement dresses every stitch of which had been made by the wearers in the department of home economics of the school.

A bright chorus of welcome was sung by the pupils of grades V, VI, and VII, all of whom participated in the songs of the evening. Miss Bessie Gillner, Miss Cleo Johnson, Miss Barbara James and Mrs. Nannie Tinsley are teachers of these grades.

After the invocation by the Rev. L. McCullock and another chorus the class will was read by Miss Leora Meton, prizes were awarded to the fifty-six children who have not missed a single day during the session, a delightful class prophecy was delivered by Miss Uura Dalton, and Frank Aiken to the delight of the spectators as well as the members of the class presented each classmate with a trophy full of individual meaning.

Rev. L. McCullock gave an address full of inspiration to the young folks. Superintendent Watson spoke a few words of earnest appreciation and the certificates were delivered with an appropriate message by Mr. Spessard.

Thus closes what Miss Brimmer and her associates consider the banner year of the Schoolfield public schools. Never has the enrollment been so great, never the work so efficient, never the outlook for the future so bright.

On the fifteenth of September, next, the Schoolfield schools will again reopen. At that time there will be a brand new building with twelve classrooms and this will be a junior high school. It is hoped that the thirty-two pupils whose names appear below will enter the eighth grade next year. The majority of these are now prepared for the new work; the others are planning to take the six weeks of summer work which will be offered at the vacation school to be taught by Mrs. Pitts and Mrs. Tinsley. The principal of Schoolfield school states that the work for the coming session has been so carefully planned that at the touch of a button all will be in readiness.

Many of the teachers are spending a portion of the summer observing at the best schools of the country and pursuing courses of study designed to qualify them for the special work of the coming year. Not satisfied with the fine achievement of the past year this loyal band of workers is determined that the coming year shall be yet richer in returns for the precious boys and girls to whom they are giving their lives.

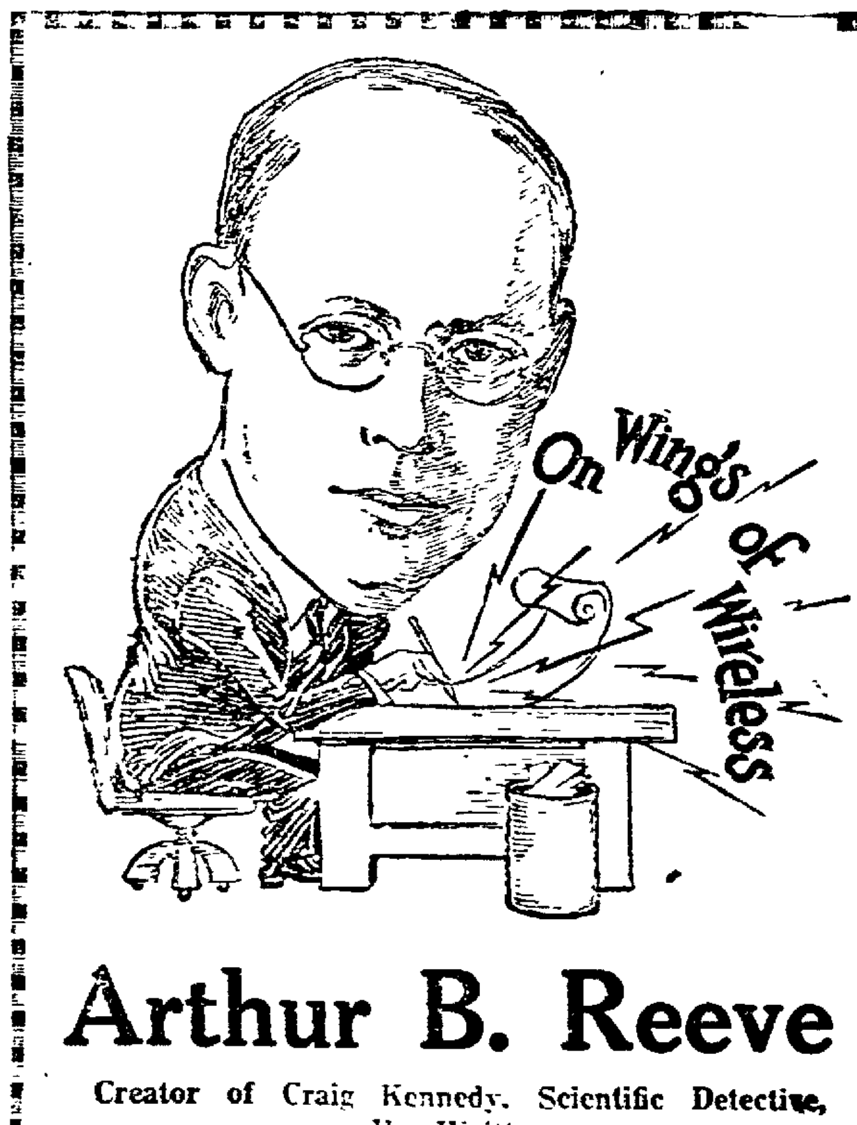

PLAY AT BROSVILLE

The dramatic club of the Brosville High school was most happy in its recent presentation of that humorous little play "Forest Acres." The well-chosen cast put life into its characterizations and in the lively action humor and pathos were generously intermingled.

The large and appreciative audience was spontaneous in its applause, and much praise was accorded the young actors. For the distinct success of this performance, credit is due Miss Frances Oakes and Miss Annie Mason White, by whose skillful efforts its attractive scenes were staged.

NEW MEMBERS ELECTED

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Danville Country Club the following new members were elected: Miss Kathryn Gray, John W. Carter, Jr., R. R. Mobley, W. D. Powell, J. R. Tate, W. H. Hoffman, John B. Harvie and Dr. C. B. Pritchett.

A Great

Radio Romance

"On Wings of Wireless" is a mystery story as marvelous as radio itself. It is the story of super-criminals who seize upon the radio as a tool in their collosal crimes. It is a story that will interest every radio fan, every fiction fan.

We are proud that through NEA Service we were able to engage Arthur B. Reeve, America's greatest writer of detective stories, to produce this novel especially for our readers.

REVIEW OF H. S. FOR PAST YEAR

Sixty-eight graduates from the Danville High school have gone out from the walls of the school where these students have continued to add to the already good foundation laid for them in the primary and grammar grades of the school. This was the largest class in the history of the school.

It has been a nice year for both teachers and pupils and much has been accomplished. A review will show what some of these things are. Aside from a reorganization of the High school under a new principal, Mr. Sidney B. Hall, new courses of study have been added and some departments have been enlarged to meet the new demands of the State department. The new courses were Human Biology, Economics and Social Problems, and the popularity of these has shown that the courses are meeting a real need.

The commercial course has been rearranged so that now the graduates from that department may enter college without further requirements on the part of the colleges. The domestic science department will hereafter offer four years of work. Further equipment was added to the science department during this session, so that fuller work might be done in that line of work. Plans for the future include shop work, mechanical drawing, other industrial work and regular physical training. This last will be begun during the coming session when a man for regular athletic work will have charge of all phases of athletics in the High school. It is hoped that the future new High school building will include a modern gymnasium so that Danville will lack nothing in the way of an up-to-date High school. With a regular director of athletics in the school more time will be left to the principal and assistant principal for the carrying out of the many plans for school administration and teaching in their own lines of work.

Mr. Hall says that he is looking to the perfecting of all those things that mean truly democratizing school, and he [illegible] that his plans for the school are in keeping with that ideal.

Epiphany Church Is Wedding Scene

In the solemn setting of the Chancel Miss Mary Blair Maury, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Greenhow Maury last night was married to Zack Lanier Whitaker of Oak Ridge, N. C., son of Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Whitaker, the ceremony taking place in the Church of the Epiphany at nine o'clock the celebrants being Rev. J. Cleveland Hall, D. D., and Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, D. D. The church wedding was very largely attended, friends and relatives of both families widely known in Virginia and North Carolina and other acquaintances filling the church auditorium some time before the appointed hour.

The entire Chancel of the church was elaborately and effectively decorated, the floor being carpeted in white from the steps to the Altar, white roses, white carnations and Shasta daisies being used in the decorative scheme flanked by the fronds of plants and other greenery which formed a perfect and fragrant setting for the impressive service.

Prior to the wedding and while the church was filling Miss Hattie McMillian, organist, played several selections, the triumphal notes of the wedding march signalling the advent of the bridal party down the white carpeted aisle.

First came the ushers, Henry Macklin of Greensboro, N. C. and Greenhow Maury, Jr., D. L. Donnell of Oak Ridge, N. C., and Lewis Maury. Miss Elizabeth Maury, only sister of the bride was the maid of honor who came wearing coral chiffon with crystal and pearl embroidery and carrying a bouquet of Ward roses, orchids and lilies-of-the-valley. Following her were the two little flower girls, Sadie and Frances Hall, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hall, two charming diminutive figures wearing white organdie trimmed with pink rosebuds and carrying baskets of garden flowers. The bride a radiant figure yet fully conscious of the solemnity of the moment entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She was wearing ivory crepe satin embroidered in pearls with long draped train. Her bridal veil of tulle was caught at her brow with symbolic orange blossom. Her bouquet was of Bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The bridal party paused at the Chancel steps where they were met by the groom and his best man, Lee Fentress of Greensboro, who emerged from the vestry door. Here the wedding party remained grouped while Dr. Hall conducted the betrothal service after which they proceeded to the the Altar rail where the final vows were said, during which Schubert's Serenade was softly rendered. The bridal party returned in inverse order while the second wedding march again pealed forth.

Mr. Whitaker is a graduate of Chapel Hill and is at present a member of the faculty at Oak Ridge Institute, one of the best known boys' schools in the South, where he is regarded as an educator of exceptional talent and with the prospect of a highly successful career before him. His bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greenhow Maury of this city where she was born and reared. She is a graduate not only of the Danville High School but also of Randolph Macon Institute and Trinity College at Durham, N. C. She belongs to a Virginia family of distinction with forbears who find their permanent place in the pages of the South's history and besides being a young woman of culture and charm, is firmly entrenched in the affection of her own people. Numerous tokens of esteem and friendship have been received by the bridal couple, the wedding presents which were seen last night at the Maury home including a remarkable assortment of silverware, cut glass and scores of trinkets and other useful household effects.

Immediately following the church ceremony a reception was held at the parental home of the bride, 134 Broad street, this being tendered to relatives and her close friends. The entire lower floor of the home was effectively decorated with flowers and greenery.

In the parlor, where the receiving line stood, the decorations were pink rosebuds, a soft refulgence of light being shed from candles in brass candlesticks. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Maury, parents of the bride, were the bride and groom, B. L. Fentress, Miss Elizabeth Maury, Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Whitaker, parents of the groom, Dean Maury, Mrs. L. E. Harvie the bride's grandmother, and Mrs. Richard McIlwaine. Guests arriving were met at the door by Hunt Wimbish, Mrs. W. B. Hill and Mrs. Hunt Wimbish having charge of the bride's book.

The color effect in the dining room where refreshments were served and where the cutting of the wedding cake took place was white and silver a profusion of Bride roses being used effectively with white carnations and smilax. Those assisting in the dining room included Misses Jenny Lind Bass, Eleanor Guerrant, Fielding Douthat, Elizabeth Jones, Mary Carrington, Frances Young of Baltimore and Bernard Graves of New York. Others assisting in the reception were Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bailey and Miss Hyla Bagley.

SUMMER SCHEDULE FOR "Y" PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT

The summer schedule for the physical department of the boys' division of the Young Men's Christian association will be effective on Monday, June 5.

The intermediates will have use of the gymnasium, playground and swimming pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, classes commencing at 9:30 a. m. The hour for the juniors will be 9:30 on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings.

Classes for the employed boys will be for the junior group 7:30 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights and for the older group Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights commencing at 7:30.

The physical director has arranged for the swimming campaign during the week of June 11. This campaign is open to all boys of the city who are not members of the association and will be under the personal supervision of the physical director.

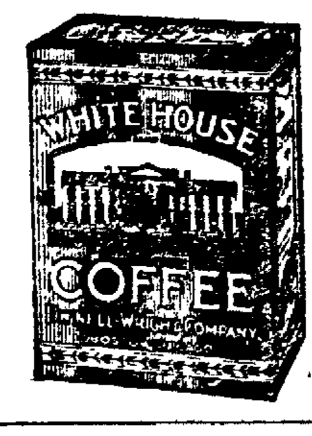

Any boy wishing to learn to swim should secure an application from the office and have same signed by his parent or guardian. Any parents desiring to have instructions given their boys should call at the office and make arrangement for the same. Last year a number of boys learned to swim during campaign week and it is anticipated that the applications this year will be in excess of those of last year.

STRANGER HELD TO ONE BOTTLE; OTHER WAS LOST

When a young man whose identity was not learned unintentionally let a certain package fall to the pavement last night on Main street, at the corner of Market, he was seen to lose no time in making a departure. A few persons who saw the incident gathered around to view the remains of the package and these few persons huddling together caused others to venture near to see what was taking place. The odor which permeated the air soon satisfied the curiosity of those who were craning their necks to see amidst the crowd for the smell left no doubt but that the contents of the bottle was whiskey and then the mystery was solved.

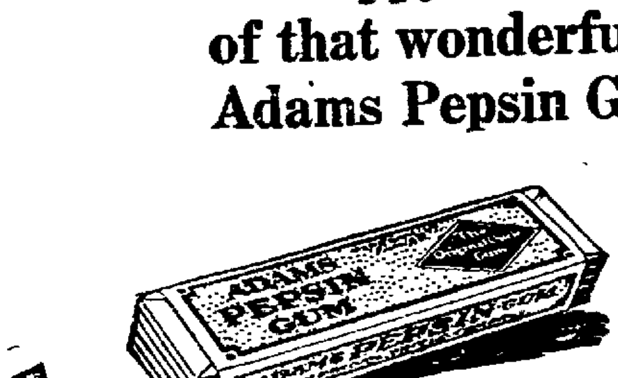

The man had accidentally let a quart bottle drop to the pavement with a crash, and the odor therefrom disclosed the reason why he did not care to remain on the scene. It was said that there was one bottle which did not fall and the stranger clung to that and disappeared in the usual crowd of Saturday night shoppers. The liquor from the broken bottle trickled into the gutter and a passer-by kicked the fragments of glass from the sidewalk.

Further Arrest In Ward's Case

Philadelphia Police Find Man Suffering from Bullet Wound and Believed to eB Involved.

NEW YORK, June 4—A man with an undressed bullet wound in his arm and a Ward Baking Company memorandum book in his pocket, is under arrest in Philadelphia on suspicion that he is the missing "Jack" in the Ward murder mystery. Pinkerton detectives employed by the Westchester County authorities hurried to Philadelphia yesterday afternoon to try to establish whether the prisoner is the second man shot by Walter S. Ward at the time of Clarence Peters was killed.

The prisoner gave his name as John Cienzo, 31 years old, of Wakefield, Mass, and his companion, as a private detective employed in strike-breaking. He was picked up accidentally by the Philadelphia police, who found him prowling around a house on Friday. He concealed his wounds until yesterday, when they were discovered. Blood poisoning had set in and he was sent to a hospital under heavy police guard.

Coincident with this development District Attorney Frederick E. Weeks at White Plains announced that he would present "the Ward case" to the Grand Jury tomorrow. Grand Jury subpoenas were served yesterday upon Mrs. Walter S. Ward, wife of the defendant; Amy Mild, a maid and Lulu Barrows, a nurse, in the Ward home at New Rochelle. Mrs. Waldo I. Shuman and Mrs. Alfred J Hook, neighbors of the Wards, and chief of Police Frank Cody of New Rochelle.

According to Mr. Weeks, twelve or fourteen witnesses in all have been subpoenaed to testify tomorrow, including State troopers and others who will establish the primary fact that Peters was found dead on a road near the Kensico Reservoir on the morning of May 16. Before the Grand Jury finishes with the case, the prosecutor said, he expects to call about twenty-five witnesses.

Ward's father, George S. Ward, president of the Ward Baking Company, and his brother, Ralph D Ward, vice-president of the company, have not yet been served with subpoenas, but may be. Mr. Weeks said that the defendant's father and brother, together with his wife and his servants, have flatly refused to answer any questions put to them by the official investigators without a subpoena.

The prosecutor said he had not decided yet whether to call James J. Cunningham before the Grand Jury. Cunningham is the private detective and race track habitue who was arrested at the Hotel McAlpin and locked up in the county jail at White Plains on Thursday night after telling conflicting stories about the blackmail of Ward and the shooting since then Cunningham has remained silent.

So far the authorities have been unable to prove or disprove Cunningham's statement that the real motive for the shooting was that Ward "went crazy" and began shooting when he learned that a blackmail gang had trapped him so that they could show his father that he had received part of the hush money extorted from his father. Pinkerton detectives are now checking up all the movements of Ward, members of his family, Peters, Cunningham, and the "Jack" held in Philadelphia for several days before and after the shooting.

Republican Held For Alleged Fraud

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A warrant has been issued by United States Commissioner Hitt for the arrest of J. L. Phillips, chairman of the Republican state committee for Georgia, charging fraud in the execution of war contracts. Beyond confirming reports that the warrant had been issued, Commissioner Hitt refused tonight to discuss the case.

Phillips, as a member of the firm of Phillips and Stevens, obtained a contract soon after the armistice from the government to dispose of surplus lumber left from cantonment and camp construction and other war development the firm having been designated by a conference of lumber dealers to act as their agent.

Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, in a speech recently in the house, asserted that official reports had been filed by government auditors in September, 1921, showing that Phillips and Stevens still owed the government under this contract more than $1,850,000 and that so far as he could learn "no proceedings whatever has been instituted in this connection."

Although it has been generally reported during the past week that the special grand jury now sitting here on war fraud cases had been engaged in consideration of evidence dealing with contracts for sale of surplus lumber, there has been no statement from any official source to indicate whether the Philips and Steven contract had been among those presented.

JUST LIKE DOPE

FRANK H PUNSHON

CHICAGO, June 4—Frank H. Punshon is 81. He has spent nearly 60 years in various prisons.

Punshon is probably last of the old type "con" men.

He began his criminal career as a child was first arrested at the age of 10. Since then he has done any number of "stretches" of varying lengths.

The gold brick game and swindling women were his specialties.

He thought he understood women. "But they've changed," he says. Fifteen years ago he went to the Illinois penitentiary. When he came out he tried to cheat a bobbed hair miss of today. He offered her a fine position in a hotel he said he owned. In the meantime, could she cash a draft for him? The bobbed hair miss called the police. Now Punshon is in a cell again. At his age it is doubtful if he will outlive his terms.

"It's just like dope," he says of crime. "Once started, you can't stop."

Doctors Would Censor Kissing

Because of Danger of Mouth Infection, They Suggest Certificate System.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 4.—Dr. J. M Frazier of Belton College, Dr R H Gough of Forth Worth and Dr L A Suggs, President of Tarrant County Medical Association, want a state law to regulate kissing, and if they can't get that they want college heads to censor kissing.

For kissing has become a menace in Texas co-ed colleges, these doctors say. Dr. Frazier, medical supervisor at Belton College, told delegates to the Texas Medical Association Convention that he treated sixty-seven cases of mouth infection at the college in the first ten days after the term opened. All of these cases, said Dr. Frazier, were due to kissing.

There is entirely too much kissing going on at girls' schools," insisted Dr Frazier. "Young people are too affectionate in their greetings. This infection is far from a joke though people mawy smile at the idea. Sometimes as a result of this malady tonsil's must be removed. Treatment is painful. If they must kiss, if young men and women feel that life isn't worth while unless they do kiss, then let them protect themselves by the certificate plan."

Dr. Gough was first to suggest the certificate showing the holder able-bodied and perfectly capable of implanting kisses without disastrous results. The co-eds themselves are not taking kindly the certificate idea. They mutter "pooh," "the idea," "the old foggies" and the like. The proposal has created a stir at Texas Woman's College and Texas Christian University, Forth Worth; State University, Austin, and at Belton College.

"The doctors are exaggerating," said one co-ed at Texas Woman's College. "What would you have us do? If a nice young man suddenly started to kiss a girl I suppose she should protest and say: 'Hold on there! Show me first your certificate!' And the nice young man would reply: 'That's so. I had almost forgotten the law; but then you must show me your certificate, too!'"

Dean Colby Hall, of the Texas Christian University, says the flappers are improving after the strain of war.

"The general moral relaxation that followed the war," said the dean, "is now abating. Hugging, kissing and petting parties are falling into disfavor with American young womanhood, I am glad to say."

She'd Sell Tomb Of Late Husband And Throw In Statue Of Her Grief

NEW YORK, June 4.—Because Mrs Henry Wiesen [illegible] a singer in the Bowery's old Atlantic Garden, is now destitute she wishes to sell the $25,000 mausoleum of her late husband, which stands at [illegible] and Spruce avenues Woodlawn cemetery.

It was built in 1901 in compliance with Mr. Wiesen's will, which [illegible] all real and personal property to my good wife, Elizabeth, but on the condition that she erect a monument, or mausoleum to cost not less than $25,000, and if she fails to perform such condition I make over my estate to the daughter of my neighbor and friend, Fice Mork — that is, Edna Mork."

In her petition filed yesterday with Justice Gavegan in the Supreme court Mrs. Wiesen sets forth that her husband's estate was in excess of $100,000 but that there had been so many claims of relatives in Germany and so much indebtedness that little was left after settlement.

My client," said her counsel, William J. McKeown, "is destitute. She needs whatever she can retrieve from the sale of the mausoleum to provide against adversity in her declining years. Our plan, if the court grants the petition, is to move the remains to a more modest plot."

Mr. McKeown said for sentimental reasons Mrs Wiesen's stage name when she appeared at the Atlantic Garden would not be divulged, as it would be instantly remembered by all theater-goers. Mr. Wiesen for many years conducted a grocery at No. 2175 Bathgate avenue, bronx.

The mausoleum is 60 feet high. The base covers the lot, 20 by 20 feet. Surmounting a pedestal at the top of the structure is a life-size figure symbolizing a widow's grief.

Counsel for Woodlawn cemetery said it "does not oppose the application, but on the other hand, neither does it consent, in view of the provisions of the will."

It will be guided by the decision of the court, which will be announced [illegible]

Refuse Recognize Russian Ambassador

Boris Bahkmeteff No Longer Considered by United States As Russia's Representative.

WASHINGTON, June 4. — Boris Bakhmeteff, whose status as Russian ambassador here has been a subject of controversy since the Kerensky government which appointed him collapsed five years ago has been notified by the state department that his credentials no longer will be recognized by the United States after June 30.

The department acted after Mr. Bakhmeteff himself, taking note of senate criticism of his continued presence here, had offered to retire should the Washington government desire it. The work of liquidating property claims, growing out of the war, the ambassador said, had been his chief function in recent months and now was about completed.

In making public the correspondence tonight, the department announced also that ermination of Mr Bakmenteff's duties as ambassador, "has no bearing whatsoever upon the question of the recognition of the soviet regime in Russia, which is an entirely separate matter."

At the same time department officials made public an exchange of letters between Secretary Hughes and Secretary Mellon of the treasury department, in which cognizance is taken of the charges of misuse of Russian embassy funds, produced in the senate several weeks ago by Senattor Borah, Republican, Idaho. A detailed statement of the embassy's expenditures is given by Mr. Mellon whose letter declared that the $187,000,000 advanced by the United States was "used solely for the purpose of obligations of the Russian government is accordance with the liberty loan acts."

Of the $187,000,000 total, the treasury said, $125,000,000 was transferred by the ambassador to the account of the Russian finance ministry, leaving $62,000,000 "for expenditures in this country," at the time of the fall of the Kerensky government in November, 1917, the letter added, the embassy had $56,000,000 diposit in this country, of which $10,000,000 was said to be "the balance remaining from this government's loans to Russia," the remainder representing moneys derived from British and other sources.

The $65,000,000, Mr. Mellon added, together with other sums added through liquidation proceedings, all was spent under the supervision of state and treasury officials. The amount of liquidations effected was given at approximately $102,000,000, negotiations regarding which were said to have virtually completed. Upon Mr. Bakhmeteff's retirement, these negotiations are to be carried on by Sergt. Ughet, financial attache of the embassy, who is to continue to enjoy a diplomatic status.

The correspondence between Mr. Bakmeteff and Secretary Hughes is dated late in April after Senator Borah had challenged the ambassador's status and had made an unsuccessful effort to hale him before a senate committee. It was not until late in May that senate discussion had reached it's climax in a list of interrogatives propound by Mr. Borah on the senate floor but never officially taken note of by either the state department or the embassy.

Bishop Kilgo Has A Turn For Worse

MEMPHIS, June 5.—The condition of Bishop John C. Kilgo, of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who is ill at a hospital here, took a turn for the worse today and his physicians say he is much weaker tonight, after passing a restless day. His wife and sons returned to their home at Charlotte, N. C., Friday after the bishop had shown marked improvement.

TO THE CITIZENS OF DANVILLE:

I respectfully announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of Superintendent of the Water, Gas and Electric Departments of the City of Danville, subject to the Democratic primary to be held August 1, 1922.

I started with these Departments as Secretary and Treasurer in 1890; in 1898 upon the recommendation of the late Capt. C. A. Ballou, (then Engineer and Superintendent) I was elected by the City Council Assistant Superintendent. In 1903, at the death of Captain Ballou, I was chosen Superintendent, and by successive City Councils from that date until 1914 I was re-elected by unanimous vote. In 1914, 1916, 1918 and 1920, I have been re-elected by the people at popular election without opposition.

During this period of 32 years no charge has been made against me as a citizen and none against my administration of the properties entrusted to my supervision.

Since I have been Superintendent, the City Pump House and Filter Plant, the City Gas House and the City Electric Light and Power Station have all been planned and erected. During the period of my administration, our patronage has grown from perhaps 1,500 customers to a total of more than 12,000. Our receipts have increased from less than $50,000.00 a year to more than $500,000.00 a year. Whereas these Departments formerly produced receipts less than the disbursements, they now turn into the general treasury of the City, under normal conditions, from $75,000.00 to $100,000.00 in excess of the disbursement. When the City Council placed me in financial charge of the City's Departments the property value, exclusive of any franchises, was $250,000.00. Since that time and while the City Council and the people of Danville have seen fit to continue me in charge of these Departments, these property values have increased $1,000,000.00, so that the fair value of the property owned by the City at this time is not less than $1,250,000.00 It is a matter of pride to me as a citizen of Danville that whereas the citizens of Greensboro, High Point, Salisbury, Winston-Salem, Durham, Raleigh and other North Carolina cities pay $1.90 a thousand cubic feet for gas, the gas consumers of Danville pay only $1.20. This means that during the past year the gas takers in Danville paid for the gas they used $91,000.00 less than they would have been charged for the same quantity and quality of gas in any of the cities above mentioned. A like saving in water and electric light and power will be seen by comparing the rates in cities similarly situated with Danville, throughout the entire South.

The records of the City Council will show that as Superintendent of the Gas Department I have always, in response to their requests to me for recommendations, advised against their raising the price of gas, and I shall in the future make to the Council a recommendation for a reduction in the price of gas just as soon as it can be done without cutting the wages of our faithful employees.. It should be remembered that Danville was one of the very few cities in the country which did not raise its rates on water or electricity in the abnormal cost period, during and subsequent to the war. At the present time our rates on water, gas and electricity are lower than any city in the United States similarly located.

It would seem that a business of this magnitude and requiring trained and experienced supervision would more likely procure satisfactory results under an official who had devoted 32 years to its practical management than could be hoped for under the management of one who has had no experience whatever in producing and distributing water, gas and electricity.

I will appreciate the good will, the vote and the influence of the Citizens of Danville in giving me a vote of confidence upon my record, though it will be impossible to see each voter personally in so short a time. If re-elected I pledge a faithful discharge of my duty and to stand in the future as I have endeavored to stand in the past for the best interests of the City of Danville, and its citizens.

Respectfully submitted,
FRANK TALBOTT.

Louisiana Lady Says She Has "Never Found Anything Better Than Cardui for a Run-Down Condition."

Morgan City, La.—"It would be hard for me to tell how much benefit I have derived from the use of Cardui," said Mrs. I. G. Bowman, of 1319 Front Street, this city.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go.

"I was thin.

"I had no appetite.

"Could not rest or sleep well.

"I was so weak, and so very nervous I was no pleasure to myself or any one else.

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so [illegible] and easy to get tired and out of heart.

"This nervous condition was worse than pain.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and decided to use it.

"After using a few bottles, I regained strength. I wasn't so nervous and began to eat and sleep, and grew stronger and was soon well.

"I have never found anything better for a run-down condition."

If you suffer as this one and [illegible] did, it is reasonable to suppose that you, too, will find Cardui helpful for your troubles, as thousands of women have.

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Rheumatism at 60

S. S. S. Thoroughly Rids the Body of Rheumatism Impurities.

Somebody's mother is suffering tonight! The scourge of rheumatism has wrecked her body; limping and suffering, bent forward, she sees but the common ground, but her aged heart still belongs to the stars! Does anybody care? S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-purifiers known, and it helps build more blood cells. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable. It never disarranges the stomach. It is, in fact, a splendid tonic, a blood maker, a blood enricher. It banishes rheumatism from joints, muscles and the entire body. It builds firm flesh. It is what somebody's mother needs tonight! Mother, if you can not go out to get a bottle of S. S. S. yourself, surely somebody in your family will. Somebody, get a bottle of S. S. S. now! Let somebody's mother begin to feel joyful again tonight. [illegible]

LESSONS IN BASEBALL

THE FINE ART OF THROWING

Throwing is such a vital part of baseball that it deserves a chapter to itself. When it is remembered that every time a player handles the ball he must make a throw the importance of this branch of the game will be appreciated. We have stressed all through these lessons the importance of two things, stepping in to hit and of pitching and throwing with the overhand motion. Indeed the entire art of playing baseball may be squeezed into the two absolute fundamentals:

1. Step in to hit.
2. Pitch and throw overhand.

There are scores of other important principles to be learned, understood and observed in playing baseball but if the young player may make all the short throws under hand or side arm but must have a fast overhand throw for double plays, second to first base. Shortstops and third basemen may use the underhand or side arm throw on many plays but for the long throws they must have a fine overhand motion. The catcher must use the overhand motion on all throws to second base. Side arm throwing will ruin an otherwise valuable catcher for it is inaccurate and heavy. Underhand throwing for a catcher is unthinkable. Outfielders must always throw overhand save when making short snap throws close to the infield. Upon the whole it may be held that all long throws must be

SPEAKER FOLLOWING THROUGH ON HIS THROW

Tris Speaker manager of the Cleveland World's Champions is admittedly the greatest outfielder of all time. Speaker is also one of the greatest of most accurate of throwers. Note the manner in which he lets his body follow through on his throw.

will get these two vital fundamentals firmly in his mind (1) step in to hit; (2) throw overhand, he will have a good start on the road to the major leagues. These vital points once learned and practiced the rest will follow.

We have stressed the importance of the overhand pitching motion and of the overhand throw until some good judges of pitching have thought that we have understated the value of the side arm and underhand pitching motion. While we admit the value of having a side arm or underhand pitcher on a team we cannot avoid insisting on the far greater importance of the overhand pitching motion and of the overhand throwing motion. Some of the reasons why we set such store by the overhand pitching and throwing motion are:

A pitcher is the only man on a baseball team who may be exclusively a side arm or underhand thrower. The catcher, infielders, outfielders all must have a good overhand throw. Second baseman made with the pure overhand motion.

So it will be seen that only a pitcher may be a confirmed underhand thrower. For the other eight positions a good overhand throwing motion is indispensable. The game has known but one great solely underhand pitcher, Mays. The vast majority of its greatest pitchers have been overhanders. While individual side armers have shone for a short time the pitchers who endured longest, Young, Nichols, Mathewson, Adams, etc., have been overhanders. For these reasons we believe and strongly urge the overhand pitching and throwing motion upon young players. Infielders must be able to throw from all positions and ability to do it must be acquired. But first of all acquire the proper overhand throwing motion.

DUELIST GOES TO PRISON

PARIS, June 3.—A duel to the death over a woman has brought prison sentence to the victor, Maurice Pinteaux, an apache, and the witnesses of the fight. The court rejected the defense's plea that dueling with knives in the underworld was quite as respectable as sword or pistol affairs before the top-hatted society leaders.

Pinteaux and his "seconds" were sentenced last night to two years' imprisonment each, and the director of the combat to six months, for their parts in the death of Charles Lallemant, another apache. Lallemant was formerly the paramour of Louise Rattler, but Pinteaux won her from him.

The testimony showed that the duel was conducted according to set rules. Similar knives, well sharpened at the scene by the witnesses, were given to the combatants. Lallemant disregarded rules. When he attempted to follow up his advantage of drawing first blood by kicking vigorously at Pinteaux's abdomen, the other apache closed in on him, repeatedly stabbing his opponent until he fell mortally wounded.

The attorneys for the defense abandoned their announced plan of summoning persons in the social world as experts to testify that the duel, as conducted was entirely regular.

BILLS ARE POSTPONED

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Action on bills by Senators Capper of Kansas, Nicholson of Colorado, and others to restore rate making and other powers to the state railway commissions, was postponed indefinitely today by the Senate interstate commerce committee. Senator LaFollett, Republican Wisconsin, however, gave notice that he would endeavor to have the legislation brought before the Senate as soo through a motion to discharge the committee from further consideration.

It may be of general interest for a statement to be made as to where the members of the Averett College faculty will spend their vacation. President Craft and his family will remain in Danville. Misses Anna May Baker, Reba Martin, Vera Jameson, Frances Shumate, and Leola McCullers will study in New York, at Columbia University. Eugen Putnam will pursue his music studies in France. Mrs. Putnam will probably study in New York.

Miss Sadie Garrett and Mrs. M. M. Myers will be at the college all the summer, except for a short vacation they will spend at home or elsewhere. Misses Lois Cody, Wnilfred Almy, Louise Paulsen, Susie Turner and Helen Gannon will probably spend their vacation at their respective homes. Miss Grace Olsen, the newly elected teacher of English, will be with her people in Kansas. Miss Lillian Hutchins, the new teacher in the high school department, will be with her home people in Portsmouth.

TRIAL OF TWO BANK OFFICIALS COMES TO CLOSE

LEXINGTON, N. C., June 3.—The trial of Jesse L. Armfield, president, and Zed Griffith, cashier of the defunct Bank of Thomasville, which failed August 20, 1921, charged with embezzlement, abstraction and misapplication of the funds of the bank, came to a close here tonight. The entire day and much of the early part of the night were devoted to argument by counsel for the State and defense. Judge B. F. Long, presiding over the present term of superior court, in an effort to conclude the trial this week, held night session tonight and at the conclusion of argument by counsel delivered a lengthy charge to the jury. At 11:35 tonight the jury was sent to bed and court adjourned for the day. Judge Long will be here Sunday to open court and receive the verdict of the jury if a verdict is reached tomorrow.

—Miss Byrd Turner, has returned to the city after taking in the pageant and the commencement of the Medical College of Va.

WAR ROMANCE HAS TRAGIC END IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 3.—A romance which sprang from the war and mutual interest in Esperanto, international language, ended tragically today for Frank W. Anderson, floor manager in a local department store and Peggy Mariel Beal, a nurse of Dayton, Ohio. Patrolmen, responding to a call from a hotel were directed to a room, where guests heard two shots, and found Anderson dead on a bed, with a bullet wound in the back of his head. On the floor, a bullet hole in her left breast lay Miss Beal, clad in her night robe. Beside her was a revolver. The police expressed the belief that the "eternal triangle" was the motive.

On the dresser was a novel. It was open and a corner of a page turned down at an illustration portraying a woman dancer, dagger in hand, standing over the prostrate form of a man. Miss Beal was sent to a hospital, where tonight her condition was reported critical.

Officers said Anderson and Miss Beal had lived at the hotel as man and wife since Wednesday and for a week previous had lived at another address. The woman came here about ten days ago, they said, from Springfield, where for five months she had been a nurse.

Anderson had met Miss Beal, while a lieutenant in the signal corps and she was a nurse in the east. A courtship sprang up between the couple in an Eastern hospital. Their letters contained frequent passagse in Esperanto. Anderson after the war worked in St. Louis, coming here three months ago.

Anderson was shot in the back of the head as he lay on his side, officers said. He was 33 years old, according to an application for work, filed with the store where he was employed. He also stated on the application that he was married. His wife is believed to be in St. Louis.

—Miss Mary Hodges left Friday morning for Tennessee and Mississippi, to spend a month with relatives.

—W. M. ackson and daughter, Gladys, will leave tonight for San Francisco, where he will attend the Shriners convention.

They Couldn't Know

BACK in 1818 the greatest newspaper of the day declared that the world had reached the limit of human expansion. It even went further, saying that there weren't enough supplies in the world to support further growth of the population.

The mind of 1818 couldn't conceive of the miracles that human ingenuity would perform during the twentieth century. It couldn't imagine the wonders that would be wrought by new agricultural methods and modern manufacturing genius. It was ignorant of transportation as we know it, or the progressive sales methods of today. It could not see the vital part that would be played by advertising.

Even today there are some who fail to realize what an important factor advertising has become. Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, antiseptic surgery or automobiles. It keeps us up-to-date on the many things we need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives. It presents for our approval articles of all kinds and for all purposes. The requirements of each member of the family are met by advertised offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements save time, money and effort for those who read them and follow their guidance. They are practical guarantees of satisfaction.

ARCTIC TRIP IN PICTURES

Roald Amundsen and the schooner Maud

Roald Amundsen and his mascot, Sally, a Siberian malamute dog.

Captain Oscar Wisting, naviator of Amundsen's schooner Maud.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 5.—Roald Amundsen, famed Norwegian explorer, whose expedition discovered the south pole, is now bound for the Arctic. In the auxiliary-powered schooner, Maud, with a crew of nine and sailing under the flag of the Norwegian government, Amundsen is set to probe into the far north with the aid of airplane, radio and other scientific equipment.

For five years—maybe seven—the Maud will be locke din the trackless, desolate wastes of ice as the ice drifts north across the pole. For in the early fall the ship will be frozen in, after reaching as far north as ice floes will allow.

The trip is not one of adventure. Rather, strictly scientific.

"We are taking the finest scientific instruments ever sent north," says Amundsen. "We hope to discover more useful data than all other expeditions combined.

"All elements will be plumbed as we drift along. The ocean's depth will be sounded, temperature of the water, water currents, etc. With our airplanes and photographic apparatus we will study surface conditions for hundreds of miles to each side of the vessel.

"Results of observations will be sent by wireless or radio to the Norwegian government as we go along."

In the food cargo that has been packed aboard theh aMud, and which is slated to last seven years, are tons of bonbons and pickled walnuts.

"Eating is one of the few comforts we will have and we want the best," says the explorer.

Another group of packages are marked, "Not to be opened until December 25, 1922," "Not to be opened until December 25, 1923," etc. These are Christmas presents. Enough to last seven years. They are gifts of friends in Norway.

WIDE VARIETY OF STYLES OFFERED IN FALL CLOTHES

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 3.—A wide variety of style in fall and winter garments for women is offered by the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers Association in its annual style report issued today.

The slim line tailored suit with mannish tailored collar, is supplemented by tweed suits for sports wear and the more elaborate novelty models for dress occasion. The latter includes the three piece suit and boxy models, embellished with fur. The skirt length is determined by the type of suit. The tendency is toward a somewhat longer skirt for the dressy models only.

The mannish top coats in both belted and unbelted models are developed in reversible fabrics, tweeds and mixtures.

Graceful and enveloping are the new wrappy coats and capes, with their convertible standing collars of fur. There are novel individual cuts and unusual trimmings applied to these garments.

Striking new sleeve effects make their appearance on straight line coats, which portray the straight line look of the conservative straight line ... and wing effects. Bishop or ... sleeves, Mongolian sleeves and other variations stand out in these new garments.

Blouse backs, tiered effects and novelty girdles are featured, with trimmings of furs, ..., embroidery, stitchings and cordings.

BUSINESS OF C. & O. RAILWAY FOR PAST YEAR

(Special to The Register.)

RICHMOND, Va., June 3.—Report of the officers of the Chesapeake and Ohio, giving the business for the last year, were made public here today by President Harrahan. TEXTILE MEET COMES TO CLOSE

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 3.—Election of officers, the selection of Greenville, S. C., as the next meeting place and addresses by J. D. Hammett, of Greenville, president of the South Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' Association and F. Gordon, of Lancaster, S. C., featured the closing session today of the Southern Textile Association.

John W. Clark, of West Durham, N. C., was elected president of the association, succeeding G. A. Johnstone. Other officers: vice president, James A. Chapman, Inman, S. C.; secretary, A. B. Carter, Gastonia, N. C.; treasurer, T. A. Sizemore, Greenville, S. C., chairman of the board of governors, Marshall Dilling, of Gastonia.

In his address Mr. Hammett, aside from discussing the textile manufacturing industry in technical terms, gave a resume of the growth of the industry in southern states and made predictions as to its future possibilities. Like President Johnstone, Mr. Hammett expects to see the south take the lead over the New England states in a few yars.

Mr. Gordon's discussion of phases of the industry was technical.

Some of the delegates left for their homes tonight but the majority remained over for the formal opening of the 1922 season at Wrightsville Beach tonight and tomorrow.

—Miss Katherine Hines, has returned from Richmond where she visited her sister, Mrs. P. J. Carson.

—Miss Sarah Pierce, has returned home after spending several days in Lynchburg.

A WORTHY COMMUNITY ACHIEVEMENT.

Danville has good reason to be proud of Hilltop, its tuberculosis sanitorium, for it is striking evidence of an awakened civic consciousness to the need of combating a menace which is being continually placed before us by the health authorities of the country. Its dedication yesterday afternoon marks the fulfillment of an undertaking and a community enterprise which has been watched in all parts of the State. Danville is the only city of the State, so far as we are aware, that has encountered its own particular problem and made provision for those who are infected with the wasteful malady by the building of a hospital. The State maintains its sanitoria in different sections of Virginia, but Hilltop is purely a local undertaking and it derives no compensation from the State for upkeep. For that reason it is unique and perhaps Danville's example will be emulated in other sections of Virginia.

Hilltop has been a success from its earliest beginnings when the city property on Arnett's road was utilized and where scores of persons were nursed back to health and strength, their isolation being valuable in that it prevented the spread of contagion. The health reports for the past five years and especially those sections dealing with the mortality from consumption, reflect the very definite benefits which the community has derived from the institution. No charity—and Hilltop is a charitable institution since the lack of finance is not an impediment to benefitting from its operation—has been more popular than has Danville's self-willed purpose of taking care of those who are sufferers from the complaint. The response to the call for 50,000 needed to build, equip and sustain the institution was proof enough that it is dear to the hearts of the people of this community and there have been other evidences of popular support in the way of gifts of equipment. It is worthy of note that practically all of the furnishings in the present institution have been given by individuals, fraternal and secret orders and church societies, these materially assisting the Anti-Tuberculosis League in husbanding its resources and leaving a margin to operate Hilltop for some time.

The new Hilltop stands as a monument to [illegible] esprit de corps and as an [illegible] in human life which [illegible] which cannot be [illegible] figures. It is an example to [illegible] large and one which is bound to set other cities and towns to pondering over its duty to the afflicted.

"On that hot day we had last week a three hundred and fifty pound gentleman was making the trip from Lawrenceville to Danville on the old A. & D. railroad. He suffered from the heat as the train crept along through the broiling hot sun and in desperation called on the porter to fetch him some ice with which to cool his fevered surface.

"'Dar ain't no ice 'cept a little in de coolar, Boss an' ah can't 'sturb dat,' replied Zero.

"Whereupon, in commanding tones the irate passenger (slipping the porter a dime) told him to get some ice at once! With a 'thank yuh, Boss,' he hurried up to the baggage car and soon returned with a small package. After cooling his face the fat brother wrapped the small piece of ice in his handkerchief, broke it up with his fist and ate it.

"In a short time he was steaming hot again so he made another deal with the porter. This transaction was repeated several times in the course of an hour until the porter, in desperation, insisted that he could get no more ice. In response to the stern command of the perspiring passenger he stammered: 'Boss, I'se jus' afraid dat corpse won't keep 'til we git to Danville, and dat's de truth!'"

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST LYNCHING IS HELD

NEW YORK, June 3.—A demonstration against lynching, started 4,000 strong neath the sun-kissed skies of Harlem today, wound up on Fifth avenue in a downpour of rain—a straggling line of taxicabs and umbrellas which shielded 600 bedraggled negroes.

The parade was sponsored by the national association for the advancement of colored people, to gain support for the Dyer anti-lynching bill, now held up in the Senate.

CHAPTER I THE RADIO DANCE

"RUTH worries me."

Mrs. Kenmore Walden drew Guy Garrick toward the quiet end of the Nonowantuc Country Club.

Garrick did not need to affect interest, for Ruth Walden was far and away the most interesting problem of the Country Club set. Of late years Garrick had grown to be counselor and confidant in all the ills to which North Shore society was heir.

Mrs. Walden smiled abstractedly. She was one of those stunning women of today whom one confuses with their daughters.

"She says that I betray my inferiority complex when I say it—that what I really mean is not that Ruth worries me, but youth worries me—that I don't understand young people today. I may have understood young people in the days of the Florodora sextette—but I don't understand them now—and that's what really worries me."

"No one would believe you could have a daughter old enough to worry you, Nita," declared Garrick in unaffected admiration. "But tell me what it was you couldn't say over the telephone when you got me at last this morning."

"I suppose you've heard all about the first Radio Dance last night over at Bellevue Lodge—you know, the Gerard place, at Oldfield?"

Garrick nodded.

"Well, you know how young Glenn Buckley got the Gerards to put in a wireless outfit—had Professor Vario from the big Radio Central Station at Rock Ledge help him install it. At least that's what Glenn said. The truth was, of course, that Professor Vario had to do all the work. Glenn just messes around with it; has acquired the lingo—but I guess that's about all."

Garrick smiled at the characterization and Mrs. Walden hurried on. "Then the young folks got up a dance to celebrate the installation. Lo and behold, they had scarcely started when that awful thunder shower—you remember last night?—swept around, as they often do, from the Connecticut shore. That stopped the music over the wrieless."

"Yes . . . static . . . Nature's jazz jazzed the radio jazz!"

"It was a spectacular storm, you know, with the lightning flashing and crashes of thunder. They were debating whether to use the Victrola and canned music or improvise an orchestra of their own. At the height of the storm came a voice from the French windows:

"'Hands up! . . . And be quick about it! . . . Line up along that wall! . . . And keep your mouths shut!'

"There seemed to be three of them, masked, two men and a girl—a regulad devil-may-care hussy. She held the bag and a gun and took the jewels while the two men covered the party . . . They seemed to know just what they wanted, what to expect."

"What did they get?"

"Why, those bandits went through the party. They must have got away with a hundred thousand dollars' worth of jewelry . . . oh, more than that. The Walden pearls that they took from Ruth were worth twenty thousand easily."

"A good haul! But what's this gossip I hear that it was an inside job?"

Mrs. Walden glanced about to make sure that they were out of earshot. "That's what I want your help on, Guy." She dropped her voice. "I think McKay can tell you better, at first hand. McKay is our chauffeur." She leaned over the rail of the veranda. "John!"

McKay, down the driveway with the car, touched his cap and sidled up the steps of the club veranda.

"John, will you tell Mr. Garrick what you saw last night over at Gerard's?"

"Well, sir," began McKay, balancing accurately first on one foot, then on the other, as he picked at his visored cap, "after it was all over and there was a general alarm, sir, old Mr. Gerard came down to see what all the shootin' was for and he asked me a lot of questions—about the signal—and—"

"Just how did you happen to be there, McKay?" asked Garrick. "I didn't know Miss Ruth would let anybody drive her car."

McKay smiled. He had a touch of humor, even though his keen Irish wit saw the serious and suspicious side of the incident.

"Oh, I had been out joy-riding, sir—I'm sorry to have to say it, ma'am—" he bowed toward Mrs. Walden "with Lotta, one of the maids at Oldfield."

It was evident that McKay was striving to show that he had nothing to conceal—and a lot to tell. Moreover, on the score that there had been a signal and the affair was an inside job, he seemed anxious to clear Lotta, too.

"HANDS UP!" THERE WERE THREE OF THEM, TWO MEN AND A GIRL.

"So when Mr. Gerard asks me, I says 'It's darn funny. It must have happened right after that light signaled down toward Crane's neck.'"

"Light? Signal? Tell me about it."

"Well I saw it," returned McKay, a trifle contentiously. "A lot of us saw it. That's what made the suspicion that it was an inside job. You see, I saw the storm coming up fast and I beat it back to Bellevue in the car with Lotta a mile a minute. You know that tower on the corner of the Gerard house? I thought you'd know it. 'Most everybody does and has seen the searchlight in it. Well, when the storm broke—I suppose that was some time after their wireless went on the blink . . . The lightning was great. It always is out there—lights up the shore for miles and the sea and you can see the waves breaking 'way down on the rocks and the beach.

"Between flashes of lightning I saw the searchlight moving up and down the shore and I says to myself, 'That's a queer stunt—maybe a little dangerous on a night like this up in that there tower.' But the searchlight was just like artificial lightning, only you could see any part of the shore you wanted and the waves a-smashing over the rocks, at any time you liked and as long as you liked. From where I was I seen that there was a fellow and a girl up in the tower—a fellow that looked, maybe, like Glenn Buckley.

"The light traveled along the shore, up toward Crane's Neck. It was beautiful. Just as it touched the cove, I made out three figures. It seemed as if they started down the shore just as the light hit 'em. The light traveled on, then turned back over the country and whoever was flashing it swung it about as far as he could in an arc. Then it went out.

"Five minutes later—just about the time it would have taken to come down the beach from the cove and climb the steps up the bluff, this robbery took place. Oh, it was a signal, all right."

"Was the fellow in the tower Glenn Buckley, you think?"

"Looked like him, sir."

"Who was the girl?"

"I can't say, sir."

"That will do, John," motioned Mrs. Walden.

There was something in her tone that checked Garrick from insisting on the pursuit of the identity of the mystery girl.

McKay touched his hat and returned to his car quicker than he had left it.

Garrick turned keenly toward Mrs. Walden. "What does Ruth say? Who was up there? Was she in the tower?"

Mrs. Walden looked away and murmured, "Ruth refuses to say anything."

"Was it Glenn in the tower?"

Nita was getting more nervous by the second. "She won't say," she replied in a hoarse whisper.

"H'm," considered Garrick. "It comes down to whether it is another crime in the wave of crime that has been hitting country places this summer—or is it a job pulled off with the assistance of someone at the dance!"

Nita Walden shook off a restraint, as if it had been a wrap. She had come at last to the real point that had led her to seek Garrick's counsel and now stood trembling as if on a springboard over the water.

"This morning," she blurted out in desperation, "a messenger boy delivered a package to Ruth. In it were her jewels that had been taken from her—the Walden pearls!"

"Whew! Have any of the others been returned? Could it have been a hoax?"

"No!" Nita sank back in a wicker chair, her splendid shoulders convulsed as she sank her head into a little filmy lace handkerchief and sobbed. "I am frantic about Ruth's silence . . . Is silence confession? . . . Better to lose the jewels a hundred times . . . than to have them returned under such circumstances!"

Garrick was thinking about Ruth Walden, the pretty flapper sub-deb. He said something soothing, reassuring.

"I didn't think Ruth was much more than a child," wailed Nita, straightening and dabbing at her eyes with the handkerchief, "but she has been going to all sorts of dances."

"What sort of dances?"

"The cabarets in the city—and roadhouses out here on the Island."

Garrick involuntarily elevated his eyebrows.

"Oh, it's not a question of morals—alone," she hastened. "After all, sometimes common sense and foolishness are fair equivalents for right and wrong."

Guy looked up quickly, genuinely surprised at this bit of worldly wisdom.

"When girls do stupid, dangerous things, trouble follows," she persisted, "if not at once, a bit later. I'm afraid this is a case of it. Besides . . . Ruth comes into the income from the ten-million trust fund of her father's estate next month when she is eighteen."

"Who are in this set?" asked Garrick, then in a tone of gentle raillery, "Who are these dancing men?"

"There's young Glenn Buckley. They call him the Demon Lover, you know. He's just a smart college kid with a pile of money and a smattering of information. He can take up cricket or radio or acting or relativity or banking—he knows them all. Another is that Jack Curtis, over at the Hotel. They call him 'Worcestershire'—he's the sauce to anything they arrange, makes it snappy. In my humble opinion, though, he's nothing more nor less than another cabaret product."

"I know him . . . what I call a 'ditto boy,' plunges in with a big splash and swims with the tide."

"Oh, why can't Ruth accept Dick Defoe?" implored Nita.

EFFORTS MADE TO MAKE OUT AN AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Work of reconciling differences in language contained in the plan approved by the House military committee for development by private enterprise of the government's projects at Mussel Shoals, Ala., and the language used by Henry Ford in expressing the terms of his offer, was renewed today by the committee in session with W. B. Mayo and J. W. Worthington.

Upon the efforts of the conferees to work out an agreement satisfactory to the two parties involved, the fate of Mr. Ford's proposal depended insofar as its favorable or unfavorable submission by the committee to the House is concerned. First discussions centered upon the fertilizer provisions of the committee's plan as compared to that rewritten by Mr. Ford in Detroit and submitted to the committee yesterday by Mr. Worthington.

No progress was made at the morning meeting to harmonize the two paragraphs relating to fertilizer manufacture at Mussel Shoals. The discussions were renewed later in the afternoon when the conferees met informally for the second time. The plan [illegible] a joint rewriting of the [illegible] which could be [illegible] to Mr. Ford and his attorneys [illegible] in a way to permit a report to be made before the committee at its formal session tomorrow.

UNVEIL STATUE OF POCAHONTAS AT JAMESTOWN

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 3.—Back to Jamestown Island, where America was cradled, will come tomorrow representatives from many states, formally to pay honor to an Indian girl who many times saved the cradled America from "death, famine and utter confusion."

Under the auspices of the Pocahontas Memorial Association tomorrow afternoon the William Ormway Partridge statue of the Indian maiden will be unveiled. A group of little girls, all descendant of Pocahontas, will draw the curtain from before the monument which represents the girlish figure of Jamestown's savior standing with arms outstretched to welcome to the white settlers.

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of William and Mary College, will preside at the ceremonies. Miss Lila Loraine Dorsey, president of the memorial association will present the statue to the association for the preservation of Virginia antiquities and Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, son of President John Tyler and former president of William and Mary will accept on behalf of that association. Others who will participate are Thomas Nelson Page, John A. Stewart, chairman of the board of governors of the Sulgrave Institute and numerous church dignitaries.

HERE'S NEW TOPCOAT FOR SUMMER AUTO TRIPS

IT'S pleasant to think of the long sunny days coming when life will have nothing better to offer than driving along a country road between flourishing green fields.

AUSTRALIA TO BE JOINED BY RADIA TO MOTHER COUNTRY

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 3.—(By Mail.)—Plans for direct wireless communication between Australia and Great Britain have been announced and provide for a main station which will be able to speak over 12,000 miles for the greater part of the day.

The site for the station has not been selected but it will be either in New South Wales or Victoria. Six feeders, one in each of the capital cities, will work with this main station and as far as possible, the radio system, which is to be taken over by the commonwealth next month, will be utilized for this purpose. Several new plants also will be required.

PICK YOUR ART SCHOOL ERE YOU PAINT YOUR FACE

EXAMPLES OF THE LEADING SCHOOLS OF FACE-PAINTING ART. PICK YOUR OWN STYLE.

BY MARIAN HALE

MOST people admit they do not care for art because they do not understand it.

To appreciate any picture, you know, it helps wonderfully to have some idea what the artist tried to express.

And, in the same way, it seems one might withhold judgment of the painted face of today until one understands what the woman underneath has tried to say!

The various types of facial art naturally fall into certain schools, it seems. There are the old master group, the poster group, the futurists, impressionists, pastel artists and realists.

Old Master Style

The old master effect is the very latest things in makeup. Paris has sponsored it for some time. To achieve it, you abandon rouge entirely, but equip yourself with a goodly supply of dark yellow powder.

You cover the entire exposed portion of the face thickly with yellow powder until you have a nice dull brown, mat effect.

Then, with a dark lipstick, outline the mouth carefully. In this way, you achieve sort of an uncolored mellowed look that is strongly reminiscent of old masters.

Poster Style

Exactly opposite in technique and feeling is the work of theh poster school. The disciples of this group always aim to look like the covers of the best selling magazines.

They stress white skins, pink cheeks, red lips, penciled eyes and beaded lashes. They do look like nice healthy milkmaids. They really represent the conservative element, for they follow the type that has stood theh test of time.

Futurist Method

The futurists see no particular reason evently why the makeup should not add a certain fantastic element. Frequently they make up only part of the mouth and do quite different things on each side of the face. They make conventional patterns with wisps of hair and can make the eye look three times its normal size.

Impressionists

The real impressionist should never be viewed nearer than 20 feet. She distributes her makeup about as thickly as the impressionist painter, and just about as casually. But sometiems, across a room, she is amazing.

Pastel Group

The pastel group achieves a vari-colored effect, and it must be admitted that the face sometimes looks like a batik. But often, too, it is strangely lovely.

This group should have red hair and green eyes. This gives a good color foundation. Then add blue or lavender under the eyes, a pale pink on the cheeks and a deeper rose on the lips, and there you are—a study in pastels.

Realist's Ideal

The realist lets her face stand as is. If nature nature gave her nose with luminous qualities, or she is deficient in eyebrows or short on color, she does not alter the situation with her mirror and vanity case.

However, this group is decidedly in the minority and it may soon be extinct.

MAY EXTEND TO COAL DEALERS MAXIMUM RATE

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Possibilities of extending to the distributive ends of the coal industry co-operative measures for maintaining maximum prices for coal similar to those adopted by Secretary Hoover and operators in the producing fields were understood tonight to be under consideration at the commerce department.

Secretary Hoover was understood to plan a conference of coal dealers along the lines of the meeting held this week with the operators in an effort to find a way to pass on to the public benefits obtained by the establishment of fair price levels on spot coal.

It was indicated at the department that Mr. Hoover's plans for protecting consumers against rising prices of coal might develop before next week.

Hat Coverings Repeat Fabric of the Dress

©WOMAN'S INSTITUTE Fashion Service

SO WELL thought of are the ginghams of this season that they are given opportunity for delightful expression in hats as well as in dresses. Indeed, it is the exceptional gingham frock that is now satisfied to appear with a hat of other than its own fabric, for modern ideas do not permit the slighting of such excellent possibilities as the matching hat offers.

Gingham of a vivid green-and-white check makes this a particularly desirable warm-weather costume. And what could be more delightful than crisp white organdie to supply youthful details in the broad sash and oddly-pointed front collar sections?

The center-back closing of the waist as well as the front skirt-panel edges, which are an extension of the lower bias skirt portion, are indicated by pearl buttons.

Picture Story of Escape From Maniac's Trap

A madman forced Mrs. John Jenkins and Miss Kathryn McManan at a pistol's point to go with him to his shack near Omaha, Neb. The women are shown here at the edge of a pit inside the shack into which the madman threw them after shackling them with a heavy chain. One of the women later attracted the attention of H. E. Boyd. When Boyd came to their rescue, the madman pressed a revolver against his side and succeeded in chaining him. While the madman was digging a grave in which he intended to bury Boyd, Boyd pried himself loose and, with the chains still about him, jumped through a window and telephoned for aid. Sheriff Michael Clark and deputies are shown at the shack.

OBSTRUCTION IS PLACED ON SOUTHERN TRACK

HARRISONBURG, Va., June 3—An attempt was made to wreck the Southern passenger train No 21 arriving here from Washington at 10 29 p m., by the placing of a pile of iron plates, ties and rocks on the tracks at a sharp curve between Marshall and Rectortown, in Fauquier county, according to the stories of the passengers and train crew told on the arrival of the train here last night

As the train shot around the curve, the engineer saw the obstruction, but too late to bring the train to a stop before striking the mass The ties in the pile were splintered, but fortunately the engine did not pass over any of the plates placed on the tracks as they probably would have derailed the train. There is a deep gully on each side of the track at the spot.

After the track was cleared the passengers and crew joined in searching the surrounding country, but no trace of the guilty persons could be found.

"Fifi" Widener's Hubby Fined As Drunk Held For Larceny

BERWICK, Pa., June 2.—Arraigned before Chief Burgess Kitchen this afternoon on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, larceny of two lanterns and a flag and operating his auto while intoxicated Carter Leidy paid a fine of $13.50 on the first charge and was held under $800 bail on the other charges His Italian boss, Charles Battista, became surety for the amount.

Leidy is the socially prominent Philadelphian whose elopement with "Fifi" Widener, daughter of Joseph Widener, created a sensation in society circles, and subsequently came here to don overalls and learn the steel business from the ground up.

The police assert Leidy drove his car up to the "silent" traffic policeman in Market street early Wednesday morning unfastened the red warning lantern and flung it into the river

The arrest was made this afternoon when Leidy went to work He accepted arrest without warrant being read and drove in his car to the office of the Burgess He offered to waive a hearing on the drunkenness charge, and was told this could not be done Leidy yesterday offered $100 to pay for damages done to borough property, and the Burgess was inclined to accept the offer Councilmen wouldn't permit it, President Peeler declaring Council wouldn't even consider the proposition at a meeting

"Leidy is no different from anybody else and he gets the same kind of treatment," Pealer told the Burgess today.

The Berwick police say that, in the nearly two years that Leidy had been acquainting himself with the steel business, there have been numerous requests from citizens hereabouts that either he be dalt with as an example for other reckless drivers, or that the State Highway Department revoke his license.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT OF CRUPPER LIKELY

By GEORGE H MANNING

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3—The confirmation by the Senate of the appointment of Joseph L Crupper Republican State chairman for Virginia, as Collector of Customs for Virginia, now appears likely to be given about the latter part of next week

Officers of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce have wired Senator Swanson withdrawing their objection to Crupper's appointment and stating that they do not longer want the matter held up until they can be heard in opposition to it, Senator Swanson said today

He has not yet given formal approval of the appointment, Senator Swanson said today and is awaiting a reply to a letter he sent to the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce on the subject. He expects to receive this reply so that he can inform the Senate Commerce Committee of his attitude towards the appointment when the committee holds its regular meeting next Monday, he said. It is probable the appointment will be approved by the committee at its next meeting Monday provided one is held, and that confirmation will follow a few days later.

The Norfolk Chamber of Commerce had offered some objection to Crupper's appointment. Senator Swanson said, because of the report that it was Crupper's intention to have the headquarters of the Virginia Customs Collection district moved from Norfolk to Washington at Alexandria where there is now only a deputy collector. When advised of this objection Mr. Crupper advised Senator Swanson that he only intended to have a deputy collector conduct the major part of the business from the Norfolk office and continue the State headquarters there just the same as previously and that he intended to handle the Alexandria office and spend most of his time there.

This arrangement was satisfactory to the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Crupper said today, and objection to his appointment had been withdrawn. Senator Swanson has had the Crupper appointment held up during the past week to grant the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce a hearing they had requested. This hearing has now been called off.

Mr. Crupper's nomination was sent to the Senate May 20th, by arrangement between President Harding and Congressman Slemp, and it was planned to have Mr Crupper take over the office on June 1st.

But because of the delay in confirmation it is unlikely he will take over the office now before July 1st, Mr. Crupper stated today. He pointed out that after confirmation he has to arrange his bond, receive his commission and arrange several other details and that it is improbable he will take over the office before July 1.

BEGGERS' UNION FIXES ALMS RATES

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 3.—The Beggers' Union of Constantinople at its annual meeting held recently voted that all members shall hereafter refused to accept alms of less than 100 paras, equivalent to two cents The union, which according to its announcement, includes all the leading beggars, declares it is forced to adopt this regulation owing to the high cost of living.

STRIKING MINER IS ON TRIAL

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 3—Raymon Shinosa, a striking miner of Collier, W. Va., went on trial in Federal District Court here today for alleged violation of an injunction by the late Judge A G Dayton, which prohibited organized miners from interfering with the operation of the mines of the West Virginia-Pittsburg Coal Company. The injunction was granted in 1913.

The prosecution grew out of a strike which marked the morning of February 21 last by a clash between striking miners and miners on their way to work A deputy sheriff Shinosa and a number of strikers were wounded. Counsel for the defense in the opening statement reviewed the facts attending the issuance of the injunction and the fight at the mine, and a motion of the defense to dismiss the case, because Shinosa was not a party to the original suit which resulted in the injunction, was overruled by the Court.

The prosecution withdrew one of the charges against Shinosa. Section 1of the injunction prohibited the United Mine Workers, their agents or members from combining or uniting employees of the company. Shinosa was charged with violating that section, but it was withdrawn after the Government objected to defense questions tending to show that the company's mine had been organized previous to a strike in December, 1921.

Seeks Polar Continent

SEATTLE, Wash., June 1.—Capt Roald Amundsen, who starts on his polar expedition Saturday, has announced that one of the primary objects of the trip into the Arctic is a search for the great undiscovered continent of the north, supposed to lie somewhere in the vast unexplored region surrounding the North Pole.

"The theory that there is a large continent near the pole," Captain Amundsen said, "was first advanced by the late Professor Harris, of Washington, D. C. He came to his conclusion from a close study of oceanography. Our expedition will attempt to establish whether the continent is there."

Captain Amundsen indicated that he would reserve the right to name the new continent should he be so fortunate as to discover it.

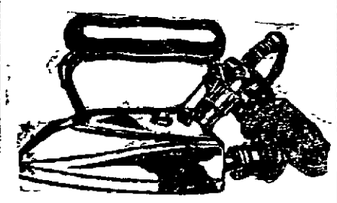

PRINCESS SUCCEEDS IN GETTING CASE BEFORE THE SECRETARY OF LABOR

WASHINGTON, June 3—Princess Ivan Tschernitschew of the former Russian aristocracy, who claims American citizenship and who has been denied admission to the United States by the port authorities of New Orleans, has succeeded in getting her case before Secretary of Labor Davis who is expected to render a decision within a few days

The story told by the princess to the labor department authorities was said to deal with the "murder and crucifixion of her husband by the bolsheviki, the disappearance of her 8 year old son, a black dispatch box containing secrets of the lost royalist cause in Russia a flight across Europe on foot to evade the secret agents of the soviet, and a trip across the Atlantic, partly as a stowaway as part a stewardess.

STAR TO BE PUT ON TRIAL MONDAY

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 3.—Rudolph Valentino hero of many film romances will know Monday whether he must face a jury on a charge of bigamy. Justice of the Peace Hanby so announced today after the actor's preliminary hearing on charges that he married Miss Winifred Hundut at Mexicali, lower California, and afterwards lived with her at Palm Springs, California while he still was legally married to Miss Jean Acker.

Deputy District Attorney Costello in his arguments contended that the fact that Valentino and his second wife lived in the same cottage at Palm Springs for three days following their marriage warranted holding the defendant. W. I. Gilbert, representing Valentino, declared that no evidence showing marital relations had been produced.

LAUNDRY PRICES LOWER.

Our customers will be pleased to note a general reduction in our prices as announced on Saturday, effective June 5th. We are glad to be able to lower prices now that business is coming back to normal and costs are reduced. We take this opportunity to thank our many customers for their continued patronage and assure them that we will strive to serve their interests at all times. Everybody is invited to join the happy Star Laundry family. Phone for the wagon—No 85.—adv.

DAM BURSTS FLOODING TOWNS

SCRATON, Pa., June 3.—Carbondale and nearby towns today were swept by a flood when a small dam burst following torrential rain. Much damage was done, but no loss of life has been reported.

Rain beginning mildly in the early afternoon, increased steadily until it became one of the most violent downpours the region has suffered for years. As a result, the Hathaway dam of the Delaware and Hudson company at Burnwood, Wayne county, went out, and the water tore down the valley toward Carbondale, 20 miles away.

At Simpson, the water raced thru the streets, flooded the American Welding Company plant, tore out tracks in the Delaware and Hudson yards and did much other damage. The plant of the Carbondale Machine Company lay in the path of the torrent, which then swept across the northern business district of the city and into the Lackawanna river. This rose until all bridges were under water. One state bridge over Fall Brook creek was washed out.

THREE REPORTED KILLED

TO THE CITIZENS OF DANVILLE

After carefully considering the requests of a large number of friends and supporters, I have decided to become a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Public Utilities of the City of Danville at the November election, subject to the result of the Democratic primary, should one be held.

While I have no criticism to make of anyone, I consider it a worthy ambition of any man to aspire to such an office, and my campaign so far as my influence goes will be conducted on a high plane and on the basis that the office is one to be filled by the people. My campaign will be in the hands of my friends generally, and the result will be accepted gracefully, whatever it may be.

I assert no special qualification for this office, but it has been my theory of life that constant application and steady perseverance will often accomplish more than genius diversified. I believe my record of twenty-two years' residence in Danville will show that I have given the best I have to every task ever assigned me, large or small, and if elected to this responsible office I promise my undivided time and attention to the discharge of the duties and to the best interest of the city.

I think I am a busy man now and will not be able to see each voter personally but will appreciate your interest and support in this campaign.

Sincerely yours,
E. H. MARSHALL,
Danville, Va., May 24.

Ford To Fight For The Shoals

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Henry Ford's proposal to develop the government's vast power projects at Mussel Shoals Ala., was given conditional approval by the House military committee today and ordered reported to the House with a recommendation that it be accepted in the form agreed to in committee. The action was taken by a vote of 12 to 9, in executive session, and was interpreted by committee men generally as being in effect but the preliminary skirmish to what promises to become a bitterly contested battle between the proponents and opponents of the Ford offer in the House.

In arriving at its final decision the committee decided to eliminate from the properties covered in the Ford offer the steam plant at Gorgas Alabama, and agreed with W. B. Mayo and J. W. Worthington, representatives of the Detroit manufacturer upon new language regulating the manufacture of fertilizers. In all other respects, the Ford offer was fully approved.

Mr. Mayo declared when advised of the committee action that despite elimination of the Gorgas plant he regarded the results announced as a decisive victory for Mr. Ford and that a more determined effort than ever before now would be made to obtain the properties. To agree upon every detail involved in the negotiations, except one, was a distinct achievement, Mr. Mayo added, particularly since the discussions had been extended over so long a period of time.

Two other developments in Congress affecting Mussel Shoals occurred while the committee was in session. The House instructed its conferees on the army appropriation bill to report back to it what decision they reached with the Senate on the amendment providing $7,500,000 for continuation of work on the Wilson dam so that a separate vote might be had.

In the Senate agricultural committee, Oscar F. Merrill, officer of the federal power commission, testified that the Mussel Shoals projects should be completed and put in operation preferably by private enterprise. If the government decided to operate the properties, Mr. Merrill said, he believed the bill by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, chairman of the committee, probably offered the best method of dealing with the projects.

The House committee also decided to meet again Monday for the purpose of preparing a report reciting its opinion of the Ford and other proposals which will be submitted to the House membership when the Ford offer is presented, probably early next week. In all probability the committee will write two reports, one by the majority members and the other by those who advocate the acceptance of Mr Ford's tender with the Gorgas plant included.

LOOKING FOR FINE SEASON

LONDON, June 3.—London shopkeepers are anticipating a season far more brilliant than any since the war. It is expected that more American money will be spent here this year than for many years past, and many are the plans being made to capture as much of it as possible by entertainments of various sorts.

In Charing Cross Rroad Lon is planning the biggest dance hall in the world. This will have accommodation on one floor for 1,600 dancers and balcony space for 1,000 spectators. Eighty women and 21 men will be engaged to teach dancing, while three bands two English and one American, will provide the music.

For the other side of the picture the Bishop of Peterborough has proposed that in every ballroom and on every dinner table during the season a box be placed labelled "For the Fellowship of Britain," in which contributions could be received "for the many thousands in this country who often do not know where the next meal is to come from."

STRIKE VOTE TO BE TAKEN BY RAILWAY MEN

CHICAGO, June 3.—Strike votes affecting 1,200,000 of America's railroad workers, returnable on the same date probably about August [illegible] will be decided upon at the railway labor conference in Cincinnati next week, in the opinion of B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor.

The employes expected to vote are those affected by the new wage reduction orders already announced or pending from the railroad labor board.

ILLINOIS WINS IN CHAMP MEET

IOWA CITY, Iowa, June 3.—Illinois scored an overwhelming triumph in the western conference outdoor track and field championship meet today, piling up 59 9-14 points. Iowa was second with 24 1-35. Minnesota third with 23 1-10 and Notre Dame fourth with 22 13-14. Four conference records were broken and one was tied. Illinois won the one mile relay in record breaking time of 3.20, but was robbed of a victory in this event, due to the disqualification of the team because of Sweet's rough work. Sweet was alleged to have knocked a Notre Dame runner over in making a turn. The race was given to Iowa and no time announced.

Sinister War Cloud Hovers Over Europe

Poincare Note on Hague Parley Fails to Lessen England's Fears—Allied Unity Seen As Vital Need.

LONDON, June 4.—The shadow of a new world fell across the European political horizon today.

Lloyd Geroge sounded the warning in his recent address to the house of commons, and many British and foreign diplomats here profess serious alarm over the prespects.

Premier Poincare's note to the powers today concerning The Hague conference has not served to lessen the alarm. The British government is known to base much of its hopes for peaceful reconstruction of Europe upon success of this gathering. Evidence that France may again prove a stumbling block brought expressions of regret here.

It is pointed out that, as in 1914, all the elements necessary for war are contained in the present complicated political situation.

In 1914 suspicion and greed combined to cause the Tustro-German belligerency, the Russian mobilization and other factors that led to the World War.

Today the elements are distrust of Germany and Russia, distrust by ligerency or bankruptcy—in several cases both—of several European nations.

Tension between France and Germany over reparations, heightened by France's latest note and Poincare's speech in the chamber yesterday on which he won an overwhelming vote of confidence, added to the Russo-German agreements might, diplomats added, precipitate a new war, of which French occupation of the Ruhr might prove the starting gun.

Formation of a Russo-German military alliance would necessitate closest allied friendship and unity of action. Neither Great Britain nor Italy could afford to leave France isolated. Rumania and Poland would be in grave danger as would Greece through Turkey and Bulgaria.

"If Germany and Russia were to answer French occupation of the Ruhr with a declaration of war," a prominent official said today "Europe would be aflame again within a week. England would be compelled to aid Franc eand Belgium, Russian troops would smother Poland in their march through to Gemany. Czecho-Slovakia, Rumania, ungaria and eventually Jugo-Slavia and Austria would be overrun with Red troops. There would be no question, this time, of hugh loans by belligerents. It would be a war of death."

Military men have declined to comment upon the possibilities of a new world war, beyond pointing out its terrors from hundreds of inventions involving gas, fire and new engines of destruction.

Europe is in a belligerent mood but mostly in an effort to prevent this threatening conflagation. This was true in 1914. France recognizes danger to herself in a Russo-German military alliance. England is opposing France politically in many things because the goverment here believes France's attitude toward Germany may prove provocation of war.

Economically Britain feels reconstruction of Russia the pathway to peace in Europe. From a political point of view, however, it is admitted allied unity is the one great bulwark against war.

TROOPS STAY IN GERMANY

CORLENZ, June 4.—Notification that 1,000 or not more than 1,200 officers and men of the American forces in Germany will remain here indefinitely, is officially made in a cable message to Major General Henry T. Allen from the war department. This means the retention of the entire infantry, less one battalion with the United States.

YOUR OCULIST'S PRESCRIPTION

for glasses is different from a prescription for medicine.

To obtain the maximum benefit from your oculist's prescription the lenses must not only be ground correctly, but the frames must hold the lenses correctly before the eyes and be so comfortable that you hardly know you are wearing them.

Galeski Glasses are not only accurately made and fitted, but are the style and type most becoming to each individual wearer.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Attention Ford Owners!

Ford parts, like almost everything else worth while, are counterfeited. Imitation parts are manufactured to SELL at the highest possible rate of profit and the grades of steel used are consequently not the same high quality, specially heat-treated alloy steels specified in Ford formulas for the manufacture of GENUINE FORD PARTS.

Don't be misled—Insist upon GENUINE FORD PARTS made by the Ford Motor Company. By so doing you will get from 35 to 100 per cent more wear from them, and you will pay the lowest possible cost—the same everywhere.

Everyone knows that the Hupmobile maintenance and repair costs are almost unbelievably low, and that the car is particularly free from the need of constant and petty adjustments.

It's almost a proverb among skilled repairmen, that the Hupmobile is better built, and that it stays out of the shop far more consistently.
